Things I like about Bangalore:

1. The people are warm and welcoming.
2. The city's culture is very relaxed. This is not a hostile city like Delhi or like an aloof Mumbai. Bangalore has a soul that a lot of other cities lack.

Things I'd like to change about it:

1. The people have taken from the city but not given back anything.
2. Growth is part of evolution but it has destroyed this city which has been disproportionate to development. Bangalore is still very limited in many ways.
